

Name	Affiliation
Charles Sablan:	Parks operations manager, will represent the people who work in 100 Dexter
Phil Fujii:	Community relations manager for Vulcan Inc. Prior to Vulcan, Phil worked with the City of Seattle for more than 25 years in various capacities, such as urban designer for downtown projects, council legislative assistant, City Light project manager, neighborhood planner, and sector manager for the Department of Neighborhoods.
Elizabeth Grace:	Parent of two children attending South Lake Union/Denny Triangle schools. Both schools (Spruce Street School and New Discovery School). Elizabeth represents the school coalition. She is an architect with Urban Mix.
Edmund Robb:	attorney with Foster Pepper and also represents the school coalition
Leslie Parrot:	mom with two young children who will be living across the street from Denny Park She is also a marriage and family therapist, college professor, radio host, national speaker, and author of several books (including a couple of children's books)..
Pastor Doug Lindsay:	Pastor at the Denny Park Lutheran Church for 15 years. He will represent the faith community. Pastor Lindsay is from Puyallup.
Gregg Gartrell:	Developer for the Low Income Housing Institute (LIHI). His work includes site selection/acquisition, conceptual design, financial structuring, and architectural/construction oversight. The Denny Park Apartments, 50 units of affordable housing, sponsored by LIHI is located one block away from Denny Park
Rachel Myers:	Director of Organizing and Advocacy for Real Change newspaper. Prior to working for Real Change, she worked in various programs serving homeless youth and did human services and health care lobbying at the state legislature.
Richard Stead:	Operates a small business (Banya 5-a Russian spa) in the South Lake Union Area neighborhood.
Lynn Krizanich:	Represents Clise Properties and has over twenty years experience in the management and operations of urban, high-rise, office, retail, and residential and industrial properties. She's actively involved in civic and community service and currently serves on a variety of neighborhood Boards of Directors. Lyn recently completed serving six years (two terms) on the Seattle Planning Commission and lives in downtown Seattle.
Ruth True:	She and her husband Bill are philanthropists, supporting a variety of civic causes. They are art collectors and owners and have a long history of civic and political involvement in Seattle of Western Bridge Gallery, which makes their personal collection open to the public
Mimi Sheridan:	Historical preservation consultant. Primarily she does historic survey and inventory work, assist on Environmental Impact Statements and special projects.
Kristin Kildall:	She currently works at SvR. She wrote her master's thesis on alternative play; specifically testing her theory and ideas at High Point Elementary School. She worked with students, testing "eco-play". Her focus is on environmental play elements, but she has thoroughly researched the field.